Message from the Guest Editors

We are delighted to extend an invitation to submit articles for our upcoming Special Issue on "Sensor Networks for Structural Health Monitoring 2024".

With the increasing demand for intelligent infrastructure, the scientific community recognizes the pivotal role of sensor networks in advancing structural health monitoring. This area of research is critical for ensuring the safety, reliability, and longevity of civil and mechanical structures. As technology continues to evolve, the integration of sensor networks becomes paramount in enhancing our ability to monitor and assess structural conditions.

We are delighted to invite you to contribute your expertise to our upcoming Special Issue on "Sensor Networks for Structural Health Monitoring 2024", which aims to showcase the latest advancements in sensor networks applied to both civil and mechanical structures.

Deadline for manuscript submissions:

30 September 2024

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.

Author Benefits

Open Access : free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE \(Web of Science\), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Ei Compendex, Inspec, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Chemistry, Analytical) / CiteScore - Q1 (Instrumentation)
