Message from the Guest Editor

Cancer mortality rates have dropped considerably in the last three decades, largely because of the early detection of cancers. More indicators for the early stage of cancers are needed in order to continue to improve the accuracy, to lower the detection limit, and to expand the early detection of more types of cancers, so the cancers can be treated at their earliest stages.

I would like to invite you to submit either original articles or review papers on sensors and methods for cancer biomarkers detection. The Special Issue particularly welcomes but is not limited to topics listed in the following keywords.
