Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Coastal habitats providing various ecosystem services for human society are indispensable for its sustainable development and the earth system, but are impacted by human pressures. For analyzing methods, it is needed to share case studies on coastal habitat mapping that use easy and efficient analyzing methods with a high accuracy for practical use, including supervised and unsupervised classifications with traditional algorithms and recent ones such as machine learning, artificial intelligence, etc. This Special Issue focuses on the above-mentioned topics.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Sensors is a leading journal devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements of technological developments and scientific research in the huge area of physical, chemical and biochemical sensors, including remote sensing and sensor networks. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of sensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Sensors organizes Special Issues devoted to specific sensing areas and applications each year.
