Message from the Guest Editor

The extraction, purification and analysis of active ingredients from natural products and plants is one of the most attractive research fields in the relative literature. Determining the active ingredients in natural products or plants is essential for their application. The analysis of the composition of extracted compounds via chromatography, mass spectrometry and related techniques is a relevant step in determining the performance of the extraction process and the purity of the extracted compounds to be used for pharmaceutical applications.

Therefore, it is my pleasure to invite you to contribute your research articles, communications or reviews to this Special Issue dedicated to the extraction, purification and analysis of chemical compositions of natural products and plants.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Separations offers the scientific community a high-quality, open-access journal option with rapid time-to-publication without any sacrifice of a rigorous peer-review process. We invite contributions ranging from fundamental characterization and instrumentation development through application of techniques to shed light on a broad spectrum of separation science needs. Since inception, Separations, has become unique in its combination of rapid publication and thorough scientific content. We invite you to consider us for your next contribution.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE \(Web of Science\), CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Rapid Publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 12.4 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.8 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2024).
