Message from the Guest Editors

Inequalities in healthcare constitute the main challenge in contemporary societies and a domain that needs immediate attention in an era of globalization, diversity and multiculturalism. The cultural competence of healthcare professionals has been acknowledged as an important skill for helping reducing health disparities and it is supported by research, indicating a link with patient satisfaction and adherence to therapy.

This Special Issue invites researchers, teachers and academics to submit their work on cultural competence in healthcare and healthcare education. Articles, reviews and concept papers could focus on cultural competence or other related concepts, such as diversity competence, structural competence, intercultural communication, cultural awareness, cultural humility, cultural sensitivity, cultural empathy, cultural intelligence etc.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Societies (ISSN 2075-4698) is an interdisciplinary journal that brings together different scientific approaches to engage with societal questions to enhance our understanding of the social realm throughout history. The journal publishes original empirical research papers, literature reviews, and conceptual papers. Our aim is to publish papers that have a significant impact on addressing present and emerging societal questions. Therefore, we encourage researchers to publish their results in as much detail as possible. For empirical research papers and literature reviews, all experimental details must be provided, so that the results are reproducible. We also encourage the publication of timely theoretical pieces on topics of interest to existing and emerging societal questions. Papers are either published in the open journal or in Special Issues devoted to specific topics of interest to the field.
