Research on International Migrations and Security Governance

Message from the Guest Editors

The international migrations of 21st Century are largely similar to those of the past; but, the new frame (i.e. economic, social and political context) has an overwhelming influence on its connotation, characteristics, dynamics and outcomes. It is a matter of migrations which subsumes all the health, environmental and economic disasters increasingly exacerbated by neoliberalism. We are therefore faced with a total political fact (a concept that refers to Marcel Mauss, i.e. a fact that include all aspects) which marks a real change in the paradigm of migrations. The radicalisation of hostility against migration to the point of making it a sort of permanent war against this “enemy”, the spectre of the 21st century. Contributions have to follow one of the three categories (article/review/conceptual paper) of papers of the journal and address the topic of the special issue.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Societies (ISSN 2075-4698) is an interdisciplinary journal that brings together different scientific approaches to engage with societal questions to enhance our understanding of the social realm throughout history. The journal publishes original empirical research papers, literature reviews, and conceptual papers. Our aim is to publish papers that have a significant impact on addressing present and emerging societal questions. Therefore, we encourage researchers to publish their results in as much detail as possible. For empirical research papers and literature reviews, all experimental details must be provided, so that the results are reproducible. We also encourage the publication of timely theoretical pieces on topics of interest to existing and emerging societal questions. Papers are either published in the open journal or in Special Issues devoted to specific topics of interest to the field.
