Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

In today's dynamic landscape, the imperative to shift towards sustainable and green economic paradigms is paramount. This Special Issue seeks to unravel the intricate web of interactions between sustainability and economic transformation, addressing the critical aspects within green finance, green real estate, and the development of sustainable cities. Our objective is to delve into how societies can make choices that balance environmental, social, and financial dimensions. We aim to foster a comprehensive understanding of the challenges and opportunities associated with sustainable and green economic practices, bridging theoretical insights with practical applications. We invite contributions covering a spectrum of themes, including the following:

- ESG (environmental, social, and corporate governance) integration in business practices;
- Urban economic strategies for green transformation;
- Renewable energy integration and transition;
- Smart and sustainable cities;
- Carbon emissions and climate change;
- Sustainable finance models and practices.
