Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue aims to curate the evergreen literature on tourism impacts on the sustainable development of destination cities/countries both from demand and supply perspectives. In other words, the issue will explore the impact of tourism development on the socio-cultural dynamics of the destination countries while also documenting the impacts with respect to environmental pollution, waste management, resource dependence and scarcity, tourist-resident/locals nexus and destination management organization supports.

In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Qualitative exploration of host-tourist relationship;
- Reviews of destination sustainable practices;
- Greening the destination;
- Sustainable tourism business models;
- Environmental impacts of tourism development;
- Carrying capacity and host tourism planning;
- Sustainable workforce for sustainable tourism practice;
- Public–corporate tourism policy synergy;
