Message from the Guest Editors

With the dynamic situation of aligning COVID-19, the development of the AEC sector is facing a big challenge. In this context, the aim of this Special Issue of Sustainability titled “Sustainable Innovation and Management of the AEC Sector in the New Normal” is to inspire scholars to continue conducting research on sustainable construction innovation and management in the new normal.

Submission types such as case studies, original research contribution, systematic reviews, conceptual papers, and experimental and original research contributions are welcomed. Full papers are invited in areas including but not limited to:

Sustainable construction technology

Energy efficiency

BIM application

Sustainable building for ageing

Sustainable resilience of disaster management

Online and mixed mode training

Sustainable safety of construction sites

Mental health of construction workers

Multilocation construction management

Online stakeholder management
