Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

The role played by environmental education, or education for sustainable development, as many call it, in pursuing and achieving sustainable development, is an important one. Environmental education encompasses education for, through and about the environment, with the ultimate aim of, not only leading to short-term, but to long-lasting, awareness, changes in behaviors and in lifestyles, which, combined, may lead towards a more sustainable world. In this context, it entails aspects as varied as curriculum development and planning, pre-service and in-service teacher education, content development and a healthy combination of theoretical teaching and field work.
