Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

With the deepening of economic globalization and the increasing flow of production factors and talents around the world, internationalization of vocational education is highly valued by most countries. Vocational education is closely linked to economic and social development and is of great significance in promoting employment and entrepreneurship, boosting economic and social development, and improving people's well-being. Under this common vision, we should learn from each other to promote improvement and go hand in hand for common development. Especially for international students who accept vocational education in different countries, they need more recognition for their professional qualifications around the world. It is necessary to work together deeply to form global standards for quality evaluation of vocational education, and promote vocational international mutual recognition system. So, in this issue, we welcome experts to conduct dialogue and share policies on promoting international cooperation on vocational education.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.
