Message from the Guest Editors

To explore the challenges from various topics, this Special Issue invites research papers that may contribute to the modeling or applications of MCDM in all fields. Research related to sustainable developments in economics, the environment, and social welfare has gained significant attention. Review articles that may provide a systematic understanding of an impactful MCDM method (approach) or research topic are also welcome. Potential topics include but are not limited to MCDM related studies in:

- Business
- Management
- Finance
- Marketing
- Engineering
- Computer science
- Related decision-making frameworks (Group/multi-expert decision making; Consensus-based decision-making)
- Exploring newest decision frameworks (Participatory or large-scale decision-making; AI and data-driven decision-making; Social network-based decision-making)
- MCDM-related approaches to pursue the sustainable development goals (SDGs)
- Multi-criteria recommender systems
