Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We are calling for papers for a Special Issue of the journal Sustainability on research to shed light into Innovative Solutions for Sustainable and Safe Maritime Transportation.

Due to the continuous growth of global sea traffic in volume and number, sea areas are getting crowded, especially those where maritime routes merge or cross. This in turn leads to an increase of the likelihood of dangerous ship–ship encounters that may result in an accident with severe economic, societal or environmental losses. Concurrently, new types of ships with a skeleton crew or fully unmanned are emerging on the horizon, bringing novel navigation-related challenges...
