Message from the Guest Editors

The special issue based on the 2nd edition university conference on agrifood innovation and sustainability (I Congreso Universitario en Innovación y Sostenibilidad Agroalimentaria, CUISA), which will be celebrated on the 16th and 17th September, 2021. Additionally, for agrifood innovation and sustainability, the main objective of this event was promoting the interchange of knowledge between students and young researchers related to the following aspects:

1. Improvement and biotechnology in plant production.
2. Horticulture, citrus, fruit growing, viticulture and crop protection.
3. Sustainable agriculture, climate change and environmental stresses.
4. Production, welfare and quality in animal production.
5. Industrial and agricultural facilities.
6. Water, nutrition and energy management in horticulture.
7. The uses of territory, the valuation of agricultural resources and rural development.
8. Agricultural economics and business management.
9. The management and recovery of organic waste in agriculture.
10. Processing and innovation for products of animal origin.
11. The postharvest and processing of vegetable products.
12. Functional nutrition, sensory quality and health.
