Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue focuses on the latest research and current thinking within the field of water governance, identifying how developed and developing societies might draw from a wealth of opportunities to use justice thinking to help to improve water infrastructure decision making. Drawing on this knowledge base will help us to assess whether a justice approach is the next step for water governance, improving the decisions we make for people and planet. Is the achievement of socio-environmental justice in relation to water a panacea or an obtainable goal? To answer this question, both original research and review papers are welcomed.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
