Message from the Guest Editors

The Special Issue titled "Impact of Management Innovation on Sustainable Development" explores the transformative role of management innovation in achieving sustainable development goals. Encompassing a wide range of policymakers, academics, researchers, industries and sectors, it emphasizes how novel management practices can drive economic, environmental, and social sustainability. It bridges the gap between theoretical frameworks and practical implementations, providing a comprehensive understanding of how management innovation contributes to sustainable development.

This Special Issue aims at advancing the discourse by integrating and expanding upon the existing literature, offering novel insights and practical implications for achieving sustainability through innovative management practices.
