Message from the Guest Editor

It is my pleasure to be the Guest Editor for the journal Sustainability, on the topic of destination branding, with a special focus on brand equity, and its relationship to sustainable development. For a long time, the concepts of brand equity and sustainability have moved on separate parallel tracks with respect to destination development. The focus of this Special Issue is that they are not mutually exclusive but rather share common elements. Articles submitted to this Special Issue will be judged on the new knowledge that they bring to the subject and how they intertwine concepts of destination brand equity with those of sustainability. Conceptual as well as empirical papers are welcomed.
