Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of Sustainability is seeking papers that report on ESD initiatives targeting various audiences aimed at reorienting behaviors and decision-making towards sustainable development. The Special Issue will provide tangible success stories of ESD implementation in different contexts and thus provide valuable insights to researchers, educators, and policymakers committed to ESD. Although papers focusing on innovative and transformative initiatives within formal education institutions will be considered, preference will be given to papers exploring ESD within non-formal and informal contexts.
