Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue aims to fill the void in the literature by examining the key barriers of current investment regimes in climate and disaster risk-related activities. We also aim to examine the policy regimes required to stimulate private sector investment in implementing innovative climate and disaster financing. In this Special Issue, original research articles, case studies, and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

Climate and disaster risk financing facilities; Engaging the private sector; Barriers of climate and disaster risk financing; Emerging markets; Tools to support private sector engagement; Policy and financial support mechanisms; Case studies of concessional financing; External risk finance (grants, loans, and other external finance); Public–private partnerships; Financing challenges for viable and environmentally sustainable agriculture; Green bond and sovereign risk insurance; Ex-ante and Ex-post financing instruments; Enabling environment for risk financing; Risk transfer, tax incentives/ subsidies; Capital market solutions, etc.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.
