Message from the Guest Editors

Digital technology and digital economy are important ways for every country in the world to promote social and economic progress. The development of the digital economy has changed the traditional business model and the path of regional innovation. It makes technological innovation and economic development move in the direction of high efficiency, green and openness.

This Special Issue aims to collect theoretical and empirical studies on the digital economy and sustainable development in innovation systems. The research should mainly cover the following issues.

- What is the role of the digital economy in the innovation system?
- What is the impact of the digital economy on the innovation system?
- How can digital technologies be applied and optimized in corporate innovation?
- How can the digital economy enhance the performance of innovation systems?
- What are the mechanisms inherent in the digital economy that drive the sustainability of innovation systems?
- What are the effects of the digital economy on the sustainable development of innovation systems?
- How to establish an effective mechanism to promote the sustainable development of innovation systems?
