Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue, we specifically see papers that go deeper into the understanding of the actions of actors working with environmental sustainability and unfold the sustainability and environmental practices they, as individuals or in groups/teams, perform in their everyday work. We seek studies with a microlevel perspective on sustainability and environmental practices but also studies that link micro-level practices with meso- and macro-level actions and movements. This would involve research that adopts a qualitative research approach, for example such as ethnographically informed studies, in-depth rich interview studies, field-observations, and/or narrative methods. The Special Issue welcomes both conceptual and empirical contributions on the theme of sustainability and environmental management practices.
