Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue, we specifically see papers that go deeper into the understanding of the actions of actors working with environmental sustainability and unfold the sustainability and environmental practices they, as individuals or in groups/teams, perform in their everyday work. We seek studies with a microlevel perspective on sustainability and environmental practices but also studies that link micro-level practices with meso- and macro-level actions and movements. This would involve research that adopts a qualitative research approach, for example such as ethnographically informed studies, in-depth rich interview studies, field-observations, and/or narrative methods. The Special Issue welcomes both conceptual and empirical contributions on the theme of sustainability and environmental management practices.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
