Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We are preparing a Special Issue with the aim of systematizing knowledge in the field of practical application and the importance of innovative solutions in the economic and social area. This should constitute a knowledge base regarding the basic concepts of Corporate Social Responsibility, formulating the important role of property management and managers in the context of CSR and smart cities.

We will offer a scientific discussion covering following topics: the social and pro-ecological responsibility of the manager, and the principles of intelligent property management. Important aspects of urban development include the principles of smart cities to intelligent construction, the possibility of large-scale implementation of innovative zero-emission energy generation technologies, including the use of hydrogen technologies as generators of electricity and heat in residential buildings, and methods of energy storage for housing purposes. An important aspect of the discussion will be the analysis of the possibility of using BIM in construction and real-estate management.
