Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue is dedicated to papers focusing on enabling the sustainable development of transport infrastructure, by embracing smart technologies and frameworks for safer and more resilient mobility on future roads, railways, airports, and ports. Moreover, ‘smart’ here is intended not only to mean ‘intelligent’, but also to refer to the elegant solutions achievable through the use of emerging technologies and techniques that are new, or still at an early stage, in the transport infrastructure sector. The scientific papers might be covering both applied and fundamental research for urban and inter-urban surface transport and they can focus on any of the sustainability pillars.
