Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Big data and data science have emerged due to the significant need for generating, storing, organising, and processing immense amounts of data. Data scientists strive to use artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) approaches and models to enable computers to detect and identify what the data represents and detect patterns more quickly, efficiently, and reliably than humans.

The goal behind this Special Issue is to explore and discuss various principles, tools, and models in the context of data science, aside from the diverse and varied concepts and techniques relating to big data in biology, chemistry, biomedical engineering, physics, mathematics, and other areas that work with big data.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Technologies, provides a single focus for reporting on developments of all technologies, regardless of their application. It is our intention that Technologies becomes the journal of choice for both researchers wanting to publish their work and technologists wishing to exploit the high quality research across a wide range of potential applications. Through its open access policy, its quick publication cycle, Technologies will facilitate the rapid uptake and development of the research presented, ultimately providing benefit to the wider society.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within ESCI (Web of Science), Scopus, Inspec, INSPIRE, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Engineering, Multidisciplinary) / CiteScore - Q1 (Computer Science (miscellaneous))
