Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The purpose of this Special Issue is to discuss the current achievements in botulinum toxin therapy for diseases of the oral and maxillofacial regions as well as future prospects from the perspective of experts in each field. I am pleased to request that you contribute original research or reviews concerning botulinum toxin therapy for oral and maxillofacial diseases. The research areas we will consider include neurology, otorhinolaryngology, neurosurgery, psychiatry, dermatology, oral and maxillofacial surgery, dentistry, and prosthodontics. I eagerly anticipate your contributions.

Toxinology is an incredibly diverse area of study, ranging from field surveys of environmental toxins to the study of toxin action at the molecular level. The editorial board and staff of Toxins are dedicated to providing a timely, peer-reviewed outlet for exciting, innovative primary research articles and concise, informative reviews from investigators in the myriad of disciplines contributing to our knowledge on toxins. We are committed to meeting the needs of the toxin research community by offering useful and timely reviews of all manuscripts submitted. Please consider Toxins when submitting your work for publication.
