Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We are pleased to invite you to submit an article to this Special Issue on Vaccination and Public Health. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following: (1) vaccination strategies and herd immunity; (2) vaccination of special populations including those with impaired immunity, pregnant women, breastfeeding women, and children; (3) vaccine safety assessment; (4) vaccines cost effectiveness and impact studies; (5) assessment and interventions to promote vaccine acceptance; (6) strategies to improve vaccine access and equality; and (7) novel vaccine platforms. The Special Issue will include studies on both COVID-19, routine vaccinations and experimental vaccines and vaccine preventable diseases. Original research articles and reviews are welcome.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.
