Message from the Guest Editors

To tackle the threats of freshwater biodiversity loss, this Special Issue will provide a platform for exchanging views and experiences, and for the publication of research on the conservation and management of freshwaters. These are priority research areas and are important, especially in the face of a climate and environmental emergency. In this framework, we welcome all fundamental and applied studies on freshwater biodiversity, conservation and management, as well as scientific solutions to bend the curve of freshwater biodiversity loss, which could help decision-makers and stakeholders in the sustainable management of freshwater ecosystems.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

In the context of global changes, the sustainable management of water cycles, going from global and regional water cycles to urban, industrial and agricultural water cycles, plays a very important role on the water resources and on their relationships with food, energy, biodiversity, ecosystem functioning and human health. Water invites authors to provide innovative original full articles, critical reviews and timely short communications and to propose special issues devoted to new technological and scientific domains and to interdisciplinary approaches of the water cycles. We ensure a critical review process and a quick turnaround between submission and final decision.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, GEOBASE, GeoRef, PubAg, AGRIS, CAPlus / SciFinder, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Water Resources) / CiteScore - Q1 (Water Science and Technology)
